DIRECTIONS GIVEN FOR SCOUT AND INDIAN GAME

Each troop of scouts will repreent Indiana and, with the scoutmoster, will be sent out from the master, will be sent out from the field headquarters to form lines through which picked acouts, carrying sealed messages, will endeavor to make their way and to deliver their messages at a point known only to them. The Indians will try to prevent the delivery of these messages. Each messenger will be identified by a white band on his arm, known as his "scalp," and each Indian will be identified by a redand-green band on his arm, known as his "scalp."

When a messenger has been cap-

When a messenger has been cap-tured he must surrender his mes-sage and "scalp" and he is then out of the game and must accompany his captor to field headquarters, the Indian delivering the captured mesige and "scalp" upon arrival at endquarters.

If the messenger succeeds in capturing the Indian, the Indian must surrender his "scalp" and is out of the game and must return to head-the removal.

Three points will be given to the Indians for each messenger's "scalp" and envelope turned in at headquarters. Three points will be given to messengers for each Indian's "scalp" turned in at headquarters. Five points will be given to the messengers for each envelope delivered at the designated point.

Boy Scouts are today receiving their first inkling of what the big Scout-and-Indian game on Washington's Birthday is going to be. Their scoutmasters received three sets of orders at the Scout-masters' Round Table, last evening, and one of the sets is for the scouts.

But despite the fact that February 22 is coming next Monday, affairs connected with the big game are being kept back In a most mysterious manner. For in-stance, the scouts point out that their orders do not say where the game is to be played. It must be a very large play-ground, because 1400 scouts, at the very least, will take part in it. The scoutmasters themselves do not where the game is to be played. No. 1, distributed last night, drops a hint, but the real secret is to be found in the sealed orders not to be opened until the morning of the game, when the coutmasters arrive at-but that would be southnasters arrive at—but that would be telling the secret.

Troops 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 11, 12, 14, 16, 18, 19, 22, 23, 26, 20, 30, 32, 38, 40, 41, 42, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 56, 57, 50, 62, 61, 66, 67, 72, 77, 79, 80, 81, 83, 84, 87, 89, 90, 83, 84, 95, 96, 101, 103, 109, 110, 111, 112, 114, 122, 125, 128, 139, 131, 182, 133 and two unnumbered troops have been registered for the game. There are a few others, pringing the total number of troops that numbered troops have been registered for the game. There are a few others, bringing the total number of troops that will participate to 75. One secont from each troop will accompany his scont-master as bugler and orderly, to relay messages across the large stretch of country where the game will be played.

Smallest Scout in the World

Arthur Portwood, of the Blue Springs, Mo., troop, is the smallest Boy Scout in the world. He is 14 years old and is 2 feet 5 inches (29 inches) in height, weighing 25 pounds. He is in the sixth grade in school and is exceptionally bright.

When the troop goes on hikes, Arthur marches along, but if the march is particularly long and rapid, the other scouts carry him-not because he is a weakling, because he isn't, but because his legs are not long enough to enable him to keep up. The young scout raises squabs, which he sells to the Kansas City dealers, and puts the money in the bank. His ambition is struck in the leg by shell splinters during the bombardment of Whitby by German cruisers on December 16, and the limb had to be amputated.

"My work at the coast guard station consisted of messenger work," writes Whitby, "About 9 o'clock in the morning was standing with a Territorial in front of the watchhouse on the cliff when two cruisers suddenly came in sight. At first glance we thought they belonged to our own fleet, but we couldn't make out why they were in such a hurry. There was a terrific bang, and a great bit of the cliff fell down. We didn't need any more telling that it was the Germans out at sea, and we didn't walt for the part shall. and we didn't wait for the next shell. Just as we passed the door of the watch-house I was hit by shell splinters in both legs, but managed to keep on through the yards to the coast guards' houses. My right leg had to be amputated the following day."-From the Philadelphia Boy

Special supervision of the loading of vessels by custom inspectors is, according to shippers, giving eminent satisfaction and preventing expensive delays in the arrivals at the various destinatio s. Under a recent order the Treasury Department, working in conjunction with the British authorities, arranged for a special supervision of the loading of vessels. Following the inspection a sworn declaration that nothing contraband has been put on board is made by the in-

U. S. AID DECLINED IN LABOR DISPUTE

Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. Refuses to Accept Mediatory Offer of President's Board.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.-The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company today served polite notice on the Low Mediation Commission, appointed by President Wilson, that the company would settle its own labor difficulties.

The reply of President J. F. Welborn to the commission's offer to belp formulate a plan by which future strikes in the coal districts might be averted was made public here by Starr J. Murphy, chief adviser to John D. Rockefeller. At the same time a copy of a letter written by Rockefeller to Chairman Seth Low, of the President's commission, was given Welborn made no direct answer to the commission's offer to suggest plans for settling labor disputes. His reply called attention to the fact that the company had appointed its own mediator to arbi-irate differences with employes. Welborn wrote that he was convinced that this and other steps taken by the company would fulfil the purposes outlined by President Wilson.

President Wilson. Rockefeller asked Low to assure the President that he desired to co-operate with the commission "In every way in my power." He added, however, that "the executive officers of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company at Denver were the ones upon whom the responsibility for final decision properly must rest."

LOCAL GRAIN EXPORTS BIG 5,000,000-Bushel Mark, Passed Today, Sets New Record.

The exports of grain through this port for the year to date passed the 5,000,000 bushel mark today with the departure of three steamelips with full cargoes. This is the greatest amount of grain shipped in the same period from here for many years. There are now under charter to load at local elevators ten steamships the aggregate cargoes of which will total nearly 2,000,000 bushels. Wheat comprises the bulk of the shipments, with corn second. No oats have been exported through Philadelphia this year. The grain is destined chiefly for Mediterranean ports, France and Italy getting the bulk of it. Some is being sent to Greece and Holland.

The average freight rate paid per bushel is about cents. With the present high rate demanded for wheat the cost abroad is almost $2 a bushel.

OBITUARIES

GEORGE BROWN

Philosopher, Anarchist, Atheist and Single Tax Advocate.

One of the most singular and striking characters of modern local history passed last night with the death of George passed last night with the death of deeding brown, "philosopher," anarchist, athelst and single tax advocate, who died of blood poisoning at Pennsylvania Hospital. Brown died as he had lived, true to all the theories that he espoused so justily for his whole life. When he passed away, his common law wife, Mary Han-son, and his children, Heloise and George, were with him.

Three years are Brown wanted to speak at the Economic Club at Arden, Delaware County, the Upton Sincialr single tax settlement, but Sinclair wouldn't let him. Brown retaliated by having Sinclair arrested for playing base-ball on Sundays and several of the colony spent a day on the stone pile at New Castle. Previously Brown had been fined $2 for disturbing the peace, and, refusing to pay his fine, was sent to the stone pile. He got square with Sinclair. Brown never believed in marriage, and though he spent many years with a woman companion as a common law wife and leaves two children, he would never submit to a civil or religious ceremony The dead anarchist was a native of England and was the son of a well-known free thinker. He came to this city in 1884 and opened a small shoe shop at 10th and Poplar and Poplar. A splinter in his hand led to his death. He was 57 years old.

Rev. George Washburn

At present the Municipal Court is limited to the handling of cases involving $600.

President Judge Charles L. Brown, of the Municipal Court, is urging the passage of the bill to extend the court's powers. In a letter to Senator Vare he pointed out that the Municipal Court of Pittsburgh has a limit of $1500 on the actions coming within its jurisdiction.
